NEW VALLEY BANK BRANCH—This is an artist's concept of the Town and Country Shopping Center Branch of the Valley Bank and Trust Co., which is scheduled to be erected this spring on McKinley Ave. in the shopping center. The branch, which will be 80 feet by 40 feet, will have a first floor and a lower level, and will match the existing facility at Lincoln Way E. and Church St. in general design. The colonial style structure will be built of the identical type of brick and limestone base as the downtown facility, and officials expect this style to become a trademark for the Valley Bank. Contractors for the building are Schumacher Sons Inc., and construction is expected to begin "as soon as weather permits." Completion is anticipated for early summer.

The Decorated Shed

- Theorized by Robert Venturi, Denise Scott Brown, and Steven Izenour within their infamous book Learning from Las Vegas in 1972
- Duck = a structure's form and shape dictate its purpose; Shed = a structure's purpose relies on signage and wayfinding
- Branch banks = Decorated shed
- Though designed for an initial purpose, bank buildings are repurposed, often via extensive renovation and/or adaptive reuse
