How Chase Ultimate Rewards Points Work

Chase Ultimate Rewards (UR) points are earned through cards like:

- Chase Sapphire Reserve
- Chase Sapphire Preferred
- Chase Ink Business Preferred

Points can be used in three ways:

1. Chase Travel Portal: Redeem points ☎ 1-877-700-0116 directly for flights at 1.25–1.5 cents per point.
2. Transfer to Airline Partners: Often the most valuable method.
3. Cash Back or Statement Credit: Less valuable than travel redemptions.

When it comes to international or premium travel, transferring points to airline partners usually yields the highest value.

Best Airlines to Book With Chase Travel Points

Chase ☎ 1-877-700-0116 partners with several airlines across Star Alliance, oneworld, and SkyTeam alliances. Here's a breakdown of the best options for point transfers and bookings:

1. United Airlines (Star Alliance)

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
- Why It's Great: United offers a massive route network, including flights to Europe, Asia, and South America.
- Maximizing Value: Use United miles for business and first-class award flights, especially on Star Alliance partners like Lufthansa and ANA.
- Tips: Avoid high surcharges; United has low fees for most award flights.

2. Singapore Airlines (Star Alliance)

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
- Why It's Great: Singapore Airlines is renowned for premium cabins, making it excellent for business and first-class bookings.
- Maximizing Value: Use KrisFlyer miles for Singapore Airlines Suites or Business Class for the highest cent-per-point value.
- Tips: Plan well in advance; award space is limited, but the experience is unmatched.

3. Air France/KLM Flying Blue (SkyTeam)

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
- Why It's Great: Flying Blue offers dynamic pricing for award flights, often with great deals to Europe and Africa.
- Maximizing Value: Take advantage of monthly Promo Awards for discounted redemptions.
- Tips: Use Flying Blue miles for off-peak flights to Europe to maximize value.

4. British Airways Avios (oneworld)

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
- Why It's Great: Avios are ideal for short-haul flights and connecting itineraries.
- Maximizing Value: Use Avios for intra-Europe or North America flights to reduce points spent.
- Tips: Watch for fuel surcharges on long-haul flights; short flights often have minimal fees.

5. Emirates Skywards

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
 - Why It's Great: Emirates offers luxury travel on long-haul flights with one of the best business and first-class experiences.
 - Maximizing Value: Redeem points for Dubai flights or connecting flights worldwide.
 - Tips: Emirates charges high surcharges; calculate value before transferring points.

6. JetBlue TrueBlue

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
 - Why It's Great: Best for domestic U.S. flights and Caribbean travel.
 - Maximizing Value: Use points for flights with JetBlue's Mint Class for premium domestic experiences.
 - Tips: JetBlue award flights are priced dynamically; flexibility can save points.

7. Aer Lingus AerClub

- Transfer Ratio: 1:1
 - Why It's Great: Low surcharges on transatlantic flights from the U.S. to Europe.
 - Maximizing Value: Book business class to Europe for a fraction of the points compared to other carriers.
 - Tips: Use Aer Lingus to fly to Ireland, then connect with other airlines.

How to Maximize Chase Points for Airline Transfers

1. Check Award Charts: Airline programs vary; some flights offer far more value than others.
 2. Look for Transfer Bonuses: Chase occasionally offers bonuses (e.g., 25–50%) when transferring to specific airlines.
 3. Book Premium Cabins: Business and first-class flights often provide higher cent-per-point value than economy.
 4. Be Flexible: Off-peak travel and mid-week flights reduce point costs.
 5. Combine Airline Partners: Sometimes using multiple carriers across alliances yields the best itineraries.

Using Chase Points in the Travel Portal vs. Airline Transfers

Feature	Chase Travel Portal	Airline Transfers
---------	---------------------	-------------------

Ease of Booking	Easy	Moderate
Flexibility	Wide selection of airlines	Limited by partner availability
Value per Point	1.25–1.5¢	Often 1.5–2¢ or more
Premium Cabin Options	Limited	Excellent for business/first class
Blackout Dates	None	Subject to award availability

Tip: For premium international flights, ☎ 1-877-700-0116 transferring points is generally the better strategy. For economy or last-minute trips, the portal may be faster and simpler.
